Health Information Strategy.....sounds boring?

We all need to know about our own health, how to stay healthy and where we can find health information but sometimes it can be confusing, complicated or just plain dull. But it doesn't have to be!

Come to NCB's event and start developing ideas for new health apps, websites and resources designed by you, for you. The day will be really creative so you'll need to bring outrageous ideas, sensible solutions and futuristic plans!

The event is taking place on 17 February in London and places are limited but travel and accommodation costs are available for you and your parents/carers.

This event is open to people aged between 10-17.

Email mharrison@ncb.org.uk to apply for a place.
